

1. A computer virus is a malicious code which self-replicates by copying itself to other programs.

2. There are ten types of computer virus.

3. What is the software called that's designed to exploit a computer user and is a broad term covering computer viruses, worms, Trojan, adware, etc.?

Ans. Malware

4. Which of the following is a software that, once installed on your computer, tracks your internet browsing habits and sends you popups containing advertisements related to the sites and topics you've visited?

Ans. Spyware

5. Which of the following is the type of software that has self-replicating software that causes damage to files and system?

Ans. Worms

6. Which of the following is a type of program that either pretends to have, or is described as having, a set of useful or desirable features but actually contains damaging code.

Ans. Trojan

7. Virus that fool a user into downloading and /or executing them by pretending to be useful applications are also sometimes called?

Ans. Trojan

8. Antivirus software is an example of ?

Ans. Application software

9. Which virus spread in application software?

Ans. Macro virus

10. First boot sector virus is ?

Ans. Brain

11. The first computer virus is ?

Ans. Creeper system

12. _____ are computer programs that are designed by attackers to gain root or administrative access to your computer.

Ans. Rootkits